

Business as usual with the big move

The big move is nearly upon us.

Friday 1 July 2011 will see the Office for Recreation and Sport (ORS) and the Office for Racing transfer to the Department to the Department of Planning and Local Government (DPLG).

This new alignment will provide better synergies for recreation and sport and address community demand for more and better developed sport and recreation facilities and open space participation opportunities in sync with the implementation of The 30-Year Plan for Greater Adelaide.

It also offers much closer links with Local Government, one of the key partnerships essential to the success of the ORS Community Sport Hubs focus for facility development and the growth of its participation programs.

The first of July may mark the date of the move for the 100 sports and recreation staff but it will be very much business as usual for all stakeholders in the endeavours to strengthen the ORS programs, services and 'Active for Life' vision, making a stronger and more sustainable sport and recreation industry.
